

Application Areas of Physiotherapy in Obstetrics, Urology, Proctology and Psychiatry

ECTS Credits: 3 ECTS

Degree Programme:	Physiotherapy, BSc
Semester:	5 th semester
Teaching Units:	2-6 teaching units
Description:	After completing this course, the students can <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• carry out the physiotherapeutic process having regard to the relative and absolute contraindications in case of gynaecological, urological, proctological, and psychiatric patients.</li> <li>• recognise “yellow flags” and integrate them into the physiotherapeutic management of gynaecological, urological, proctological, and psychiatric patients within the meaning of the biopsychosocial understanding of health.</li> <li>• develop, instruct, and evaluate self-management programmes for gynaecological, urological, proctological, and psychiatric patients and their relatives.</li> <li>• apply different forms of instruction to gynaecological, urological, proctological, and psychiatric patients, respectively.</li> </ul>
Assessment:	assessment by work assignments
Academic contact:	Philipp Greimel , Lecturer & Departmental International Coordinator, Department of Health Sciences
Administrative Contact:	Claudia Grötzl , Staff Mobility Coordinator, International Office